

cases, where we are satisfied the vessel concerned is not trading in the interests of our enemies, that they shall be examined at some other British port, such as Halifax.

WILL NOT CHANGE SYSTEM.

"This course does not mean the abandonment of the right of visit and search, which, obviously, it would be impossible for us to abandon.

"All it means is that we substitute one form of exercising that right for another, and, in order to make our action quite clear, we are declaring at the same time that vessels trying to run the blockade with goods to or from Germany, directly or indirectly, will expose themselves to condemnation in a prima facie court.

"We are adding that if they fail voluntarily to enter a British port for examination they cannot complain if their conduct exposes them to suspicion and, indeed, constitutes a prima facie case that they are engaged in enemy trade.

Meaning Explained.

"This is the meaning of our new proclamation. It will not, I hope and believe, make any practical difference in the present system, which will proceed exactly in the same way it has proceeded hitherto, except that certain ships will be examined at Halifax instead of Kirkwall."

The proclamation referred to by the minister of blockade is a new order in council, which will be issued tomorrow, covering the attitude of the British government toward neutral ships.

INVITE DEATH"—WARNING.

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—It must be repeated again that whoever dares penetrate the barred zone perishes," declared the official government press bureau today in a statement discussing the British claims that the submarine war has failed.

The statement is as follows:

"Neutral press reports from England say that the British consider themselves now masters of the submarine danger and continue that it is certain the number of ships and the submarines captured are kept secret, it being only a question of time when navigation will be recommenced without danger."

"German papers observe that responsible British circles, if sincere, think differently. For several days the English have chosen the tactics of keeping secret their losses of ships in order to make the public believe there is no more submarine danger."

"But the British public will soon be undeceived. As to the destruction of German submarines since Feb. 1, competent German authorities do not know anything about it, and as for the information that German submarines were captured, it is clever."

"It must be repeated again and again that whoever dares penetrate the barred zone perishes."

BRITISH PLAN TO ABANDON POLICY OF FREE TRADE

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The committee on the commercial and industrial policy of Great Britain today issued a report in which the recommendation is made for imperial preference on customs duties thereafter imposed on imports.

The gist of the report, which is signed by Lord Balfour of Burleigh, Arthur J. Balfour, foreign secretary; Lord Faringdon, chairman of the Central railway; George J. Wood, labor member of parliament; Sir Charles Parsons, president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, and others, follows:

"In the light of our war experience showing the necessity to stimulate production of foodstuffs, raw materials, and manufactures within the empire for the safety and welfare of the empire as a whole, we recommend that the government declare its adherence to the principle of imperial preference in respect to any customs duties hereafter imposed on imports."

"Further, with a view to achieving this object, it is advisable to take into consideration the possibility of establishing a wider range of customs duties which would be remitted or reduced on products and manufactures of the empire and which would form the basis of commercial treaties with allied and neutral powers."

SOCIALIST SLUR ON SOLDIERING ANGERS MILITIA

Sgt. Harry E. Stewart, machine gun company, Second Illinois infantry, and others who believe the profession of arms a patriotic necessity, are up in arms over what they term an anarchistic utterance in a recent publication of "The American Socialist."

"The obnoxious line is:

"—life's dirtiest, lowest trade is to be a soldier."

"As a citizen and soldier of nearly nine years I think this sort of publication should be suppressed," writes Sgt. Stewart.

The article containing the objectionable phrase was published under the heading, "Students to Fight Against Militarism," and announced a meeting last Sunday at Hull house of the Students' Anti-Militia league.

U. S. EDUCATORS TO MEET HERE TO AID ARMY DRILL

To promote by cooperation the government's military training camps for 1917 a national conference of college presidents, high school superintendents, and students who will be held in Chicago on March 24. President James of the University of Illinois presides.

An announcement of the conference was made yesterday by Wharton Clay, executive secretary of the National Military Training Camps association, 502 Federal building, after a meeting attended by Mr. Clay, President James, Maj. Paul B. Malone, Peirce Anderson, Arthur L. Farwell, and others, at the University club. Invitations to the conference will be issued to all universities, colleges, and high schools in the United States.

Third Illinois Infantry to Be Mustered Out Today

The Third Illinois Infantry will be mustered out this morning at Fort Sheridan. Companies C and L, quarantined for many days because of scarlet fever and measles, have been released, and will be mustered out with the others. The first section will leave at 9 o'clock according to the schedule announced last night by Col. Charles M. Greene.

TWO AMERICANS ESCAPE U-BOAT SHELL VICTIM

U. S. Asks Vienna to Clarify Its Attitude on U-Boat War

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Frederic C. Penfield, American ambassador at Vienna, is said by Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent to have delivered to the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister a request for a clean and final definition of Austria-Hungary's attitude regarding submarine warfare.

The Amsterdam dispatch says that according to a telegram from Vienna Mr. Penfield handed an aide memoire today to the foreign minister requesting whether the assurances given on the occasion of the Ancona and Persis incidents are to be regarded as changed or withdrawn.

The foreign ministry, the dispatch says, will submit the aide memoire to a thorough examination and then make a report.

Text of Communication.

Following is the text of the aide memoire as forwarded by Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent:

"In its note of Dec. 9, 1915, the American government laid down the points of view whereby it was guided regarding the activity of submarines in naval warfare. These points of view were on an earlier occasion clearly expressed to the German government and the United States government, and of the opinion that even complete knowledge would suffice for judgment in regard to the Ancona incident, as the questions arising from this incident bore a different character.

Austria Aspects.

"Nevertheless the Austro-Hungarian foreign ministry declared in a note of Dec. 21, 1915:

"As regards the principle set up in the note apparently well understood. It is in doubt regarding the meaning to be attached to these declarations, especially the last, it desires to be finally and clearly informed of the standpoint which the Austro-Hungarian government adopts in these circumstances and also whether the assurance given in the Ancona and Persis cases is to be regarded as withdrawn.

"The correspondent adds:

"We learn that the material contents of this aide memoire will be submitted by the foreign ministry to an exhaustive examination from the standpoint of international law and will then be answered."

Child, 6, Mascot ON U-BOAT AS IT BAGS BIG SHIP

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The Norwegian collier Dalbeattie, with two Americans on board, has been sunk by a German submarine, according to an announcement by Lloyd's shipping agency.

Acting on the news received here and that the Dalbeattie was sunk by shell fire while the crew was taking to the boats.

The Americans on the vessel are John Guerra of Los Angeles, Cal., and Frank Wood of Keene, N. H. The latter is suffering from bronchitis aggravated by his exposure of thirteen hours in the boat.

Consul Frost at Queenstown is forwarding a report of the sinking to Washington.

LIST OF U-BOAT VICTIMS.

U-boat victims since last reported, as recorded by Lloyd's are:

DALBEATTIE (Norwegian), 1,327 tons. Crew landed.

NETHERTHORP (British), 159 tons. Fate of crew not indicated.

MAYOLA (British), 146 tons. Fate of crew not indicated.

DOROTHY (British), 57 tons. Fate of crew not indicated.

The schooner Dorothy was a Newfoundlander vessel returning to St. Johns from Oporto, Portugal, with fishery salt. It was formerly owned at Provincetown, Mass., but a year ago was sold and transferred to British registry.

SENDE REPORT ON SINKING.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—Consul Frost cabled the state department today that two native Americans were aboard the Dalbeattie when it was sunk by shell fire last Saturday. He said the steamer was unarmed and stopped the submarine, which continued to shell while the passengers were abandoning the ship. The dispatch follows:

"Norwegian steamship Dalbeattie, Giangon to Gibraltar, sunk 7 a. m., 17th, by shell fire, thirty miles off Fastnet. Carried neither gun nor wireless. Sank without pause while abandoning ship. No injuries, no offer aid."

"Weather very swell, light wind, dry sea; boats lowered 1:30 a. m., 16th, saving flares."

"Two native Americans, Frank Wood and John Guerra, of whom former is in hospital at St. Johns, acute bronchitis, contracted prior to disaster, but aggravated by exposure."

"Am mailing affidavit from master and Guerra."

At the state department it was said that the German situation continued to be as serious as it could be short of war.

Consul Frost, in a report to the department, told of violations of neutral rights and endangering of neutral life. All available information about such cases is being assembled for the president.

Warning of Jan. 31.

"At the same time as the German declaration of Jan. 31, 1917, which declared the German submarine which suddenly appeared at Newport last fall had sunk several ships off Nanucket, that sank the American steamer Houstonian. This was made known here today by Capt. Thomas A. Enser, its commander, who arrived on the Cunard steamer Ormonde.

Capt. Enser brought with him as proof of his assertion a life preserver marked "U-33," which he said he got from one of the submarine's crew.

Capt. Enser said the commander of the U-boat bore a striking likeness to the pictures of Capt. Hans Rose printed in newspapers at the time he brought the U-33 into Newport and he had no doubt it was he who sank his ship.

"When the submarine stopped us and sent a number of its crew aboard each brought a life preserver with him," he said. "One of them laid his life preserver down and I picked it up, slipping it under my coat. It is plainly marked 'U-33.'"

GIVEN COURTEOUS TREATMENT.

Capt. Enser said the U-boat commander treated him and his men with courtesy, especially after having to destroy his ship, and explained that it was necessary as it was carrying food supplies for the enemies of his country.

At first the U-boat commander going to turn the Houstonian's crew adrift, but was prevailed on by Enser to tow them in. In about an hour the patrol boat Salvator was sighted. The U-boat commander then announced his determination of setting the crew adrift to be picked up by the patrol boat.

"How can we see it will save us?" objected Capt. Enser.

"I'll make it see you all right," the U-boat commander answered and sent a shot between the Salvator's masts. Then he cut the two boat loads of the Houstonian's men adrift and went away at full speed.

HUNDREDS VIEW FUNSTON'S BODY WITHIN ALAMO

Remains Will Be Taken to California for Interment.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 20.—A funeral service of military simplicity, in which soldiers at Fort Sam Houston, national guardsmen at Camp Wilson, and thousands of civilians from San Antonio and up held this afternoon for the Gen. Frederick Funston, commander of the southern department, whose sudden death occurred last night.

The culminating honor paid the dead here was the placing of the body within the Alamo, the first time that mortal's structure has been used for such a purpose. There, while men from the Nineteenth infantry formed a V-shaped guard to the old stucco doorway, hundreds of persons passed in and out of the building from 5 o'clock until midnight.

Services at Residence.
The only religious services held today were at Gen. Funston's official residence at Fort Sam Houston. There Captain Barton W. Perry of the Third field artillery, read the regular army burial service. "Lead, Kindly Light," played by the Nineteenth infantry band, was the sole musical offering. A procession formed at the residence after the brief service, in order as follows:

Pellets, mounted orderlies, Nineteenth infantry band, Thirty-seventh infantry, E battery of the Seventh field artillery, A squadron of the Cavalry, Gen. Funston's body, carried on a caissons, Gen. Funston's horse, pallbearers, officers of Gen. Funston's staff and of the southern department.

Place Body in Alamo.
The procession reached the Alamo at 4:30 o'clock, and the casket was carried into the church. Arrangements for placing Gen. Funston's body within the Alamo were made this morning after a conference between city and county officials and officers of the general's personal popularity with San Antonio citizens. This popularity extended to all classes, as was evidenced this afternoon in the floral offerings, which almost filled the Alamo. Costly floral pieces were side by side with the simple tributes of humble workmen, who, hats in hand and with bowed heads, filed into the building.

A continual procession went in and out of the building, and many were unable to get near enough. At 6 o'clock, accompanied by an honor guard of C company, Thirty-seventh infantry, the casket was taken to the Southern Pacific station, where it was placed in an observation car. In the car surrounded by flowers, and with two soldiers standing by attention to the casket, the body will make the journey to San Francisco. Capt. Pittsburgh Lee, Gen. Funston's aid; a sergeant, and nine enlisted men will accompany the body. The special train, consisting of the observation car and a sleeper, left the station at 8:45 o'clock tonight.

Freddie Final Resting Place.
Officers of Gen. Funston's staff agreed today that it was fitting that his resting place should be at the Presidio in California instead of in the National cemetery at Washington, the usual resting place of distinguished officers of the army. It was in San Francisco that Gen. Funston, then a colonel of volunteers, drilled the Twentieth Kansas that was destined to win fame in the Philippines campaign. And it was there, while whipping his organization into shape, that he met and married Miss Edna Blankart.

This act, to use his own words, as set forth in his "Memories of Two Wars," was by long odds the smartest thing he ever did in my life.

He will be laid at rest beside his son, to whose memory the book was dedicated.

The President's Tribute.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—President Wilson wrote to Mrs. Frederick Funston today expressing his personal sympathy to her in the loss of her husband and regretting the gallantry and patriotism of the major general. The letter follows:

"My Dear Mrs. Funston:

"May I not tell you what genuine grief I have learned of the death of your distinguished husband? I feel confident that I am expressing the feelings of the whole country when I say that we have lost in him an officer of unusual gallantry, capacity, and loyal devotion to the interests of the country. He has repeatedly in very recent months proved his ability to handle situations of unusual delicacy and difficulty with discretion and success."

"May I not express my warm personal sympathy for you in your irreparable loss?" Woodrow Wilson.

Can't Take Body to Topka.

Topka, Kas., Feb. 20.—Gov. Arthur Capper tonight received a telegram from the army chief of staff at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., advising him that on account of arrangements made by Gen. Frederick Funston with Mrs. Fredrick Funston, it would be impossible to have the body of Gen. Funston sent through Topka on its way to San Francisco. It had been hoped to keep the body might for a day in the capitol of the general's home state.

Funston's Mother Ill.

Burke, Kas., Feb. 20.—The mother of the late Maj. Gen. Frederick Funston may be unable to attend the funeral of her noted son. She is ill and confined to bed at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. E. Eckard, here today. The news of his death was conveyed to her last night, and the shock added gravity to her condition.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong." —Stephen Decatur.

BUT WHERE IS THE ARMY?

If it is the intention of the administration to accept the full responsibility of our situation and put the nation in condition for an efficient prosecution of war in case events bring it about, the elaborate plans now being made for the organization of supplies, medical service, and other noncombatant activities will be necessary.

Just now, however, they present a somewhat unusual appearance. We are backing the wagon out of the barn, but there is not a horse in the stalls. We are planning the mobilization of all the resources of the nation but not creating an army. We are engraving the haft of our spear and leaving it without a point.

Everywhere men are gallantly volunteering for noncombatant posts. We shall soon have Mr. Bryan's celebrated army of a million men, but they will all be commissioned officers in the quartermaster department. No one seems to be willing to get into the fighting department. Recruiting is decidedly sluggish, while there have been many discharges from the ranks of the guard.

The organization of base hospitals and the training of thousands of women for nursing, the formulation of plans for industrial mobilization, and the preparation of a vast system of supply are all good if they parallel the creation of an army of corresponding proportions. But ingenuous as we Americans are, we cannot carry on a war without soldiers. We cannot carry a line of trenches without bayonets and men to carry them. We cannot shoot off our ammunition without guns and men to fire them.

Why is the administration so anxious to begin mobilization of supplies, for which American business men are normally pretty well prepared, yet so inert and complacent over the absence of an army to supply? Is it, under Mr. Bryan's impression, that a soldier is simply a civilian with a new suit of khaki and an army simply an aggregation of heroes sprung to arms overnight? It has taken Great Britain two and a half years to make an army fit to meet the Germans on equal terms. France and Germany trained their citizens two years in peace time to make them soldiers. Are we going to get our soldiers ready made? Is Mr. Edison inventing an army to be turned out a thousand units a day at Mr. Ford's shop?

A BACKWARD COUNTRY?

It was reported a few days ago that Russia is starving; that there are food riots in the cities; that bread is hard to get and fuel harder. Hunger and cold, we were informed, are inciting to riot. And the feeling toward Russia unavoidable was one of pity and contempt. The greatest European wheat producing country, a country which is suffering financially because it cannot export its wheat, cannot feed its own people. It was impossible not to think of Russia as a backward, ill-organized, inefficient country. The problem is only one of distribution. Under a more enlightened government such a condition would be impossible.

The United States is not at war. Its men are not in the army. Yet women invaded the city hall of New York City yesterday crying for bread.

ANOTHER MARTYR.

What is the public to understand from the rumors raised in union labor circles over the conviction of Thomas Mooney for complicity in the murderous bomb attack upon the preparedness parade in San Francisco?

Are labor-leaders to be immune from punishment no matter what they do?

Is the jury system a bulwark of liberty and justice in the case of every other defendant but an instrument of capitalist tyranny whenever the defendant is a union labor leader?

We believe the American public is getting very tired of the up roar raised every time a labor leader is tried in a court of justice and found guilty. Other men have to submit to the law and its processes, and when they are convicted of crime they are punished. Farmers' associations do not threaten revolution every time a farmer is prosecuted for breaking the law, nor commercial associations every time a business man is tried. But when a labor leader is convicted by a jury of his peers we have mass meetings and wild accusations of black capitalist conspiracies and bloodthirsty threats of riot and revolt.

This perpetual outcry is an offense against the common sense and the citizenship of all Americans, and it is making every other class suspicious and resentful of unionism. The spirit it is breeding throughout the country is hurtful to the cause of organized labor. The spirit it breeds within unionism is viciously destructive.

To take the case of Mooney. He was tried for conspiracy to commit the murderous bomb attack upon the preparedness parade in San Francisco. That parade was made up of citizens who were trying to show that they wanted defense against foreign invasion. The chief danger of foreign invasion lies in the provocation put upon a foreign power by legislation in the coast states conceived in the interest of labor and forced to enactment by labor influence. Mooney was tried by a jury and convicted. Yet we are having meetings protest against this conviction with the same old cry of capitalist conspiracy. San Francisco is one of the strongest labor communities in the world. It is notorious for the political and other power of its labor organizations. If there is any community where a labor leader ought to be able to get a square deal it is San Francisco.

But no, Mooney is a victim. No labor leader is ever guilty of any crime or misdemeanor. He always guilty of whatever charge may be brought against him, at any time, anywhere.

The attack on the preparedness parade was a dastardly thing, cowardly, cruel, ignorant, and in the circumstances stupidly illogical. If Mooney is being jobbed let his defenders produce some respectable proof and he will go free.

But until that proof is produced let organized labor for its own credit in the eyes of the American public hold its peace, keep its violent demagogues quiet, and put some reliance upon the justice of its fellow men and the institutions of its country.

Where is union labor to get the moral support it must have for the betterment of its condition if it is forever holding itself out from the mass of citizenship, claiming special privileges and immunities, brandishing brutal threats of revolt, rushing to the rescue of every evildoer in its ranks, filling the air with wild nightmares of conspiracy which offend the common sense of every normal man and woman and which accuse on the filthiest ground the honor of our courts and the justice and honesty of their fellow men?

CALLAWAY'S CHARGES.

We believe that Representative Callaway of Texas and other members of congress who may have information indicating that newspapers are serving the munition makers and the devil should be given a chance to get some action. If we are not mistaken our own Mr. Tavener has said that he knows something about the influence of the makers of guns and shells upon publishers.

Congress can develop this information, if the gentlemen have it and if congress desires to get it. We cannot imagine an inquiry of more importance to the country. If public opinion can be formed so dangerous a fashion for such terrible purposes the corrective ought to be applied at once.

If there are agencies which can be used to bring about war for the profit of makers of war material the country has an internal danger as great as any it could find outside its boundaries. A subsidized war provocer would be a national Judas.

If Mr. Callaway and other men who make statements similar to his are not talking with informants they ought to be dealt with otherwise than by the newspaper offended by them. A congressman has opportunity to affect public opinion. He ought to be held to some accountability to truth, particularly when he attempts to influence opinion upon subjects important to national welfare and security.

Mr. Callaway has earned a chance to tell investigators what he knows.

FUNSTON AS HERO.

Gen. Funston has been predominantly satisfactory to the American people as a romantic hero. However well he fulfilled his functions as a military man, he was the embodiment of all the qualities which American youths like to think are characteristic of the nation. Except for his voice, which was high pitched, and his short stature, he could be put bodily into romance. Even those defects might serve only to emphasize his other qualities.

Critical history may not name him a military genius, but popular tradition will surround his memory affectionately. He satisfied Americans in precisely the way that Douglas Fairbanks satisfies us. From the time he overpowered the Negro giant in his youth to the day he swam the Marlin river with a revolver in his teeth he was always engaged in individual heroic deeds.

They were the kind of heroic deeds which a writer of romance would give his right eye to originate.

The capture of Aguinaldo was made great by the manner in which Funston accomplished it. Just as Sherlock Holmes was made great—in fiction—by his methods of solution rather than by the solutions themselves.

And Funston in his reported utterances was quite as satisfactory as a romantic figure. His answer to the Mexican officer at Vera Cruz, "If you can't hold your troops back, I can," fits admirably into American tradition of celebrated sayings.

However great his soldiering ability may have been, he was not a great organizer. An antiquated army organization like ours would tempt a great organizer to the work of remodeling. That function he apparently could not perform. Instead of getting the system, the system got him. A little crisis like the Mexican affair, the duties of handling a few hundred thousand men, under our system proved a burden too great for one man.

Editorial of the Day

OUR AMATEUR MARTYRS.

(From the New York World.)

Should congress enact a military law requiring all American youth in good health to undergo military training for six months or more before reaching their majority they will probably be adolescent "martyrs" in every part of the country, more particularly New York, who will uphold pacifist principle by refusing to their country a service and to themselves a benefit.

With such a frightful object lesson as the present war before men's eyes, the service is likely to be mainly precautionary; the benefit will be practical, actual, almost invariably obtained. For men have to submit to the law and its processes, and when they are convicted of crime they are punished. Farmers' associations do not threaten revolution every time a farmer is prosecuted for breaking the law, nor commercial associations every time a business man is tried. But when a labor leader is convicted by a jury of his peers we have mass meetings and wild accusations of black capitalist conspiracies and bloodthirsty threats of riot and revolt.

The So-Called Peace.

(Bernard Shaw in the New Republic.)

He [Dixon Scott] does not understand the artist's manhood; protests with all his soul against the inevitable development; and always, however ridiculous, sets up the same theory that the shy romantic dreamer has put on a mask, which, as he wittily says, gets so hard pressed upon his face by popular applause that molds his very features to its shape. Shaw, Kipling, Wells & Co. are timid children desperately playing at being strong, but by no means silent men; and he tries to strip our masks off, and show our real faces, which, however, are all the same face, and a very obvious doll's face at that. His mistake is in taking the method of nature, which is a dramatic method, for a theatrical pose. No doubt every man has a shy child in him, artist or not artist. But every man whose business it is to work upon other men, whether as artist, politician, advocate, propagandist, organizer, teacher, or what not, must dramatize himself and play his part. To the laborer who merely digs and vegetates, to the squire who merely hunts and eats, to the mathematician and physicist, these men of the platform and the lecture, more particularly New York, who will, upon a pacifist principle by refusing to their country a service and to themselves a benefit.

With such a frightful object lesson as the present war before men's eyes, the service is likely to be mainly precautionary; the benefit will be practical, actual, almost invariably obtained. For men have to submit to the law and its processes, and when they are convicted of crime they are punished. Farmers' associations do not threaten revolution every time a farmer is prosecuted for breaking the law, nor commercial associations every time a business man is tried. But when a labor leader is convicted by a jury of his peers we have mass meetings and wild accusations of black capitalist conspiracies and bloodthirsty threats of riot and revolt.

Self-centered, impatient of restraint, too often intolerant of home and school authority, the type of American young man who proclaims his intent of personal rebellion would be vastly improved by learning that there is such a word as "must." He does not know it; but much that he does not know he would better learn before he is too old to profit it fully.

WHAT AMERICA NEEDS.

(From the Charleston News and Courier.)

What is there that America needs more than those very things that universal service has done for England? It would do them for us just as it has done them for England. It would help to root out those that are the most dangerous of all, those that threaten us from within.

More than any other one thing we can do it would help to make our democracy real: to put our democratic theories into actual operation; to wipe out class feeling, class distinctions, and class strife; to obliterate false standards and set up instead those that are real and worth while; to abolish the lines drawn by divided allegiances; to fan the fires of patriotism; to revive in our citizenship the sense of national obligation; to unify us to thought and purpose the widely separated sections of this vast country, and to improve the physical well-being of the average American.

As for the dangers that threaten us from without, it would sweep them from the earth. The fear of war would scarcely exist any longer, for there is no nation in the world that would attack an America rendered efficient and ready by universal service.

Neutralities.

"THIS Japanese married pair" relates Miss Times, "work with masterly skill, yet seem not to be working at all." Just like a columbus conductor.

PAN. PERHAPS the h. o. l. has been exaggerated. "We sent our coal-oil to the grocery," communicates a reader, "and it came back with a POTATO over the spout."

ATTORNEY CASE'S POOR MEMORY FOILS ERNSTEIN

Witness "Forgets" as the Lawyer-Defendant Asks of "Burglar Trust."

"Forget?"
"I have faint recollections, but the details are hazy."
With such expressions as these Assistant State's Attorney Charles Center Case Jr. baffled the attempts of three attorneys to cross examine him in the Erbstein-O'Donnell subornation of perjury case before Judge Walker yesterday.

Although he was in charge of the investigation which, following the police and state uncovered the alleged conspiracy of Attorneys Erbstein and O'Donnell to "frame" testimony in favor of their clients, he was unable to say how the state got its case together.

$7,000 Theft Involved.

"Didn't you approve a complaint made by Isidor Wexler against Max Goldstein, charging him with receiving $3,000 worth of silk, $4,500 worth of silk dresses, and 350 pairs of pants in the complaint stating that the owner of the stolen property was unknown though Wexler had confessed the names of the real owners to you?" asked Attorney Erbstein.

"I don't remember," answered Mr. Case.

"Did you go to Joliet to procure the name of Nathan Steinberg and Isidor Wexler?"

"I did something for them but I don't know what it was."

Attorney Edward S. Day, counsel for Detective Sergeant Frederick Roth, asked Mr. Case to tell the jury what Roth told him when Mr. Case asked him to come to his office in December, 1915.

The witness said he promised never to write to a soul what Roth had told him and Judge Walker did not compel him to answer.

Saints' Witnesses Well Treated. Attorney John J. Healy, counsel for Attorney O'Donnell, brought more evidence that the state's treatment of its witnesses was bad. He showed Mr. Case that Wexler and Steinberg objected to jail fare, were taken to the hospital, and had meals served from the Bradley Hotel. Mr. Gase admitted that Mrs. Wexler was "a little free with money," he decided that a meal for herself and children cost the state as much as "$5 or $6."

Mr. Paul Elia Zemern, keeper of the Crown hotel, 1500 West Division street, testified that Mrs. Wexler stayed at the night of June 1, 1915, under the name of "Mrs. Wexler." The witness attempted to prove that the date was changed.

The witness, according to Judge Walker, is lost in the lack of progress being made in the trial. A session may be held tomorrow, Washington's birthday, to assess their desire for progress.

The state will prepare the way for Mr. Wexler's famous "dictograph statement" today.

New York Assembly Passes Suffrage Amendment Bill

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 20.—The woman suffrage amendment bill was passed by the assembly today without debate by a vote of 124 to 30.

U. S. Suffrage Amendment. Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 20.—The house of representatives today adopted a memorial to President Wilson and congress urging the adoption of a constitutional amendment granting woman suffrage.

Two Held for Auto Theft. Atlanta, Ga., and Charles Parrel, keeper of a saloon at 2707 Federal street, were taken to the grand jury yesterday by two men, one of whom was identified. They were arrested for having in their possession an automobile belonging to the man of the city fire department.

PERRY WEISZIECK
CHewing TOBACCO

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.
With a big crowd of Chicago's baseball fans cheering as if the Cubs had just won the world's championship, the special train loaded with players, stockholders, friends, war heroes, and good stuff to eat, pulled out of the Dearborn station soon after 8 o'clock last night bound for southern California.

A few more than eighty persons were on board, including twenty-eight ballplayers. Others will be picked up at Kansas City and at Newton, Kan., and others will join the squad at the Padres training camp when the Chicago party arrives there Saturday afternoon.

It was the most spectacular and most dramatic get-away ever experienced by the baseball team, the host of events were on hand to cheer Chicago's hungering for baseball no more. Fred Mitchell, the new manager, was given a great sendoff by the city and President Weeghman offered his thanks to the cheerers.

Frank Loads of Fine Raiment.

One would think it was a grand opera traveling, if one were to judge by the baggage car. Secretary Williams assured that never in his long experience of moving baseball teams had he handled such a load of baggage. Nearly every ballplayer had a trunk and the stockholders and friends with their wives had as many as three and four. Mitchell is noted for a display of fine tastes and indications are that the Chicago party will knock 'em silly when it gets in full regalia on its presentation to the famous resort city.

The main feature of the trip was made just before the departure last night. Instead of riding all the way to Pasadena on the train, the entire party drove it at San Bernardino, about ten miles from the destination. There no travelers will be transferred from passenger to motor cars, and the final stop to the training camp will be along the beautiful road at the foot of a mountainside. The fact that Archer could not come to terms with President Weeghman in several conferences yesterday, while at the same time Alexander was meeting with failure in talking terms with President Baker of the Phillips, indicated to Pickens that his plan of signing both players were exceeding his expectations.

A telegram to Alexander yesterday asking him if he was open to "talk business" resulted in a response asking for the terms of the circus proposition.

Pickens answered this by getting in communication with the Philadelphia star over long distance telephone, and Pickens says that after something like $12,000 had been spent in conversation an appointment to talk business was arranged.

Larry Doyle arrived yesterday morning from Florida, where he spent the winter playing golf, and he looked as though playing baseball at once. He showed no indication of trouble in his which was broken last fall, and he is back to his old self again.

Soon after Mitchell, who appointed manager he announced that Doyle would be the field captain of the team and all the players seem satisfied with the scheme, even if Larry is comparatively new in their midst.

Lois Mann was not among those on the special train. He left yesterday for Lincoln, Neb., where his mother, who died on Sunday in Los Angeles, is buried. As soon as the funeral services are over, Lois will go to the training camp with Jim Archer.

With the single exception of Jimmy Aron, all members of the Cub squad were in full regalia when they presented themselves to the press yesterday.

Archer failed to come to terms with Weeghman and Mitchell at their conference during the day. He went to the station with Vic Saier to say his good-bye to Vic, but did not meet either Weeghman or Mitchell. Jimmy stuck with Saier outside the station and stated back to his Chicago home before the special pulled out.

camp with Jim Archer.

Three Rookies Join Squad.

Two players who arrived yesterday were Mervin Jacobson, Vic Aldridge, and Frank Murphy. Aldridge is an impressive looking and swarthy fellow, who comes with the reputation of being one of the strongest pitcher in the American semi-pro last season. Jacobson has a chance to be a regular outfit, as he has started to play well at Chicago. Frank Murphy is a speedy catcher from Joliet who has been having semi-pro ball with such fury that the Cubs have grabbed him for his show.

The players who were on the train last night were:

Doyle, Larry Doyle, Bill Wortman, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Zelde, Mr. William Dilhoffer, Fred Mollwitz, Al Demers, Tom Carter, Phil Douglas, Vic Aldridge, Mervin Jacobson, Arthur Shay, Steve McNamee, Harry Wolf, Mervin Jacobson, Maurice Prendergast, Jimmy Moore, Frank Murphy, Nelson Enhardt, George Mitchell, and George Mitchell.

They all boarded the train were:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weeghman, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Aldridge, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Weeghman, Mr. and Mrs. F. Gardner, William C. Deen, A. Spelman, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Langdon, Mr. Pollock, Mr. Zaroff, Mr. and Mrs. Guttmann, Mr. and Mrs. Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Deel, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. C. FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

EW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—Nowadays any dear old sea captain might end his days in a tub of yarn—there are placed on the most incongruous of our clothes landscapes. Silk, straw, sports clothes, and dress clothes—all of them tell us just how the little lambs came home to Cousin Jane's new sailor or Aunt Mabel's Sunday-go-to-meeting frock.

The upper one of the two spring hats shown today is one of the Breton sollers which have had such an undiminished popularity. Here the entire top of the hat is of tan yarn, and the ornament, also of wool, is a splash of red.

Real Love Stories.

If You're Happy the Corners of Your Mouth Won't Droop
BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The Tribune will pay $5 for every real love story published. If you want to mail it, address Dept. 100, The Tribune, Chicago. No manuscripts returned. If you have a perplexing love affair upon which you need the counsel of a friend, write Miss Blase. Send stamped, addressed envelope if you personal reply.

And Was No Jest.

Was a member of a party on board a ship bound for Europe. In the party was an attractive girl, who was a great favorite of all. It soon became noticeable that a young clergyman, who was not a member of our party, was becoming interested in this girl.

After a few days the girl considered a great joke [as she then considered it] to some of her friends. The clergyman had told her that he had a pastorate in one of those little towns in which every woman feels it a duty to oversee the affairs of her neighbors. He had come to the time when he wished to marry, but could not show attentions to any young lady of his congregation without being involved in a net of unpleasant gossip and advice. So he was taking this trip with the hope of meeting some girl whom he could take home with him as his bride.

In a quiet little town the girl agreed to his conditions and the two spent many hours together during the voyage. When we landed we learned that the clergyman had made arrangements to attach himself to our party. After we had enjoyed a few weeks of pleasant travel the war began, and we endured the delays, discomforts and hardships common to all Europeans travelers of that summer.

During these difficult times it soon became noticeable that the girl had ceased to think about her admirer and began to depend on him for assistance and comfort. To end the story, a few weeks after we had all at last landed safely on American soil we received wordly announcements, which proved that the trip had resulted in bringing a bride to the lonely parsonage. Conflict in Faith.

Dear Miss Blase: Do you think it is right for a gentle girl to keep company and correspond with a Jewish fellow? I am 18 and he is four years my senior.

M. L. B.

I think it better to avoid a possible matrimonial climax with faiths so extremely opposite.

"CRRK! CRRK! CRRK!" At last we have hatched a real picture!

So, we imagine the Bandbox management to be contentedly watching for "The Conquest of Canaan," directed from the novel by Booth Tarkington, a production that people are going to like and is therefore something to crow about.

While Edith Taliaferro, sister of the singer Mabel, is featured and is a most pleasing young woman to witness, it must be said that the honors go to Jack Sherill. He is a youngster comparatively new to the screen who rolled like a well meaning but awkward puppy through his first productions.

Having, evidently, brains as well as cleanly good looks, he has succeeded in nobly overcoming most of his faults and I hereby predict on my predictor that before many moons have ris and waned he will be hailed, at least by the younger movie going contingent, as a star and a hero. Unless, of course, a miasma of conceit rises to cloud those brains. Then it would be a case of tucking him in bed and wishing him a long good night. But we have hopes of the gentleman.

The story of "The Conquest of Canaan" is one of infinite appeal. It's the tale of the long and harrowing and apparently, at times, losing fight of the under dog to get on top. With all narrow minded, provincial Canaan save one nice girl and "de rough element" against him, Joe London battles for the mere right of practicing law. The rough element, big hearted though uncoated, is his friend in body because it is Joe who has without money or without price stood by when a poor grime needed legal aid. O, yes, and besides there was another friend, a small dog to whom the young hero remarked whimsically when he took him in:

"You're so yellow and scared I'm going to call you Responsibility."

And besides all this he had himself to contend with—that is, the tendency to drink too much hard whisky to cheer him along the rocky road. So he fought and smiled and finally conquered the vitriolic village with all sign boards pointing to him as the next mayor.

The picture is happily cast and well directed. You'll enjoy it.

Comment.

Lublings and Trins enter the arena with the announcement that they, too, in their various houses will give a bright American flag on Washington's birthday.

Paul Willis of Lasky, aged sweet 16, has applied to the national guard of Los Angeles for membership. There At boy!

I sent a comedy featuring a Hebrew comedian to the censors the other day," a company manager told me, "and they sent word they would pass it provided all scenes in which the comedian appeared were cut out."

ASK ME! ASK ME!

MARGARET M.: What does mean by my "ignoring" your questions? You probably meant to ask some and didn't. Write again. Believe me, I'm no more anxious to be "written away" from this world than you are to me now. I'll take your advice and put some weight on my heels. In the world did you ever happen to go to Denver? I asked you that once before. What do you mean by ignoring my questions?

REEL FAN: In "The Purple Mask" Francis Ford takes the part of Detective Phil Kelly. Grace Cunard is Patricia Monet. Thank you.

FAITHFUL READER: Mr. Rink Lardner is a young married man. His children are also young. I think he would probably send you a plain picture up of the condition of the scalp and the amount of dirt and dust to which the hair is exposed. For the average person once in three weeks is often enough to shampoo the hair, although when these are dandruff once a week is not too often. Massaging the arms with warm coconut butter is helpful in making them plump. Good exercises for developing the arms are sweeping, lifting weights, swinging Indian clubs, and using dumbbells.

SLEEPY: THE BEST TONIC YOU can take is an overdose of sleep not less than twice a week. You are evidently run down from lack of it. There is nothing so wearing on the health as loss of sleep. You cannot be out every night in the week until 12 and 1 o'clock without having it show in your health. Make it a point to go to bed every night at 10 for a couple of months, sleep not less than a whole lot better, and you will be glad to send me your instructions on how I added twenty pounds to Helene Barnett's weight in five weeks. If you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps are prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary milled coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonsfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply lather the hair while you are rubbing it on. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The bath dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

"Rarely has Mr. Wells' new book might well be called a hand-book to "Mr. Britling Sees It Through"—so vivid and revealing are the descriptions of the actual, concrete conditions on the various battle fronts of the Allies.

EDITH AND JACK

Here Was One Girl Who Always Stood by Him.

Marion Harland's Helping Hand

BY MARION HARLAND.

Needs a Music Roll.

AM A young girl studying vocal music, making my own living and earning only $3 a week.

I can't afford to buy a music roll.

Maybe there is somebody who has one which is not used any more. I would gladly send postage for it. How is my English for a girl only four years in this country? I have never been to school in America. CAROLINE S.

A girl who can write such a letter merits our distinguished consideration.

The only blunder in this capital epistle is the failure to use a capital letter in writing the name "Edith." But one often makes the same fault in the compositions of native born Americans. Is there a disused music roll which a junior member can spare for our industrious, indefatigable student? I hold her address.

Ask Toys for Her Children.

Will you publish my request for second-hand toys? I am sure some children's hearts will be glad if readers have toys to spare for us.

Mrs. R. H. G.

Hosts of discarded toys surround us, mostly closets that were in use before Christmas gifts, thrown them into the trash heap.

Many a mother and grandmother sends to us for the address of the mother whose little ones have next to no playthings, new or old, and get the "rubbish" out of the way!

Good Dog Wants Home.

The next epistle will be read eagerly by dog lovers. We have published so many petitions for house dogs, watch dogs, and companionable in general canine friends that we shall the variation in terms:

We have a fine watch dog and wish to give her to some one who will be good to her. She will stay out of doors during the summer and may be kept on a chain without any trouble. I also have a number of mazagans and mongrels and could I wish to give to any one who will pay transportation expenses. KATE B.

The dog is a free gift and there must be a good home for her somewhere.

M. A. S.

The other day Dorothy and I were on our way to the theater. Suddenly I slipped, but kept from falling, when Dorothy exclaimed: "Goodness, it's a good thing I was holding your hand."

F. M. M.

Preston came home from school the first day and said: "I don't think that teacher knows very much."

"Why?" asked his mother.

"She asks so many questions."

F. B.

When Lucille, after taking a bad tumble, began to cry in a most heartbroken manner, I reminded her that, as a little baby, she had never cried when she hurt herself; whereupon I received the indignant reply: "Well, I guess the bigger I get the bigger I hurt, don't I?"

*It's a Great Day for the Hawkeye
Fellowship Club*

If we are a great big city we must seem to have nothing but business and recreation. It remains a great day when the governor comes to town with his family and outsiders and driving in his open coach when he is such a kindly governor, with admirers wherever he turns.

The result of this evening will be the dinner to be given for Gov. Lowden by the Hawkeye Fellowship club at the Hotel. He is president of the club and this is the party that is to be a celebration of the distinction of it.

The first of a series of lectures by Prof. Richard G. Moulton of the University of Chicago, under the auspices of the women's board of the St. Luke's hospital, of which Mr. Wilhelm Ludwig Pfeiffer is president, will be given this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of Miss Mary S. Willing, 630 Rush street.

The Harvard club will hold its annual dinner this evening at the Blackstone hotel.

The Mayers' workshop is giving its third hall of plays this week in the studio at 4541 East Fifty-seventh street. The bill includes three plays, "Mrs. Collier's Letter," by Maxwell Bodenham and Ben Hecht; "Skeletons Out of the Closet," by Elisha Cook, and "You Can't Get Away From It," by Frederick Brucker. The plays will be given every evening this week.

There will be a meeting of the Sunbeam Society this morning at 10 o'clock at the Hotel La Salle. Luncheon will be served at 12:15 p.m. The Casino club held a Shrove Tuesday celebration last night.

WEDDINGS

The wedding of Miss Jane Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Wallace, and Sidney Smith Teller, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Teller of Fort Atkinson, Wis., will take place today at 1 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 740 Marshall avenue. The bride will be attended by Miss Dorothy Raas and the best man will be Forest Touton. The marriage of Miss Ellen Agnes Davis to Stephen A. Guhr was solemnized on Saturday at St. Leo's church.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Saloman of 4457 Fremont avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Minnie, to James Elmer Griss, which took place yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Dore announce the marriage of their daughter, Marie, to Louis A. Lasser, son of John A. Lasser, which took place yesterday at St. Vincent's church.

The marriage is announced of Miss Sue of Oak Park to Lorain Hovey, which took place on Saturday at the Holy Name cathedral.

Local Society at Hunt Ball.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—[Special]—Twenty all of Washington society, including the bigwigs of the Ridgeway Club for the benefit of the Red Cross fund, organized to care for thousands of horses that are "dying hot" on the European battlefield, of course, paying the price. Among the Chicago contingent taking part were Mrs. James Hamilton Davis, who was one of a group that sang of English hunting songs from time to time. She wore a Roumanian peasant costume of purple and red, spangled.

Mr. Marshall Field was among the members entertaining a party. Mrs. George and Mrs. John Conroy, who had previously entertained at dinner, brought their guests to their box. Their dinner was in honor of Secretary and Mrs. House, their additional guests being the assistant secretary of the interior and Mrs. Joseph Caspar Miller, who was formerly Miss Mary Sprague of Chicago; Mrs. James R. Mann, and Senator Phelan of California.

It's Hard to Get Anybody to Play With Nowadays

BY CINDERELLA.

ALL sorts of nice Lenten classes are coming into being, not speaking of Red Cross classes, which are more numerous than mushrooms. A jocund man was saying the other night that the government could raise an army of 1,000,000 women in a week. And it could.

It's hard work to get anybody to play with nowadays. You rise up with the lark, and everybody's telephone is busy, busy, busy, and if you try to get an old pal for a bit of lunch or a lecture, a concert, a matinee, or some mild diversion, she's so busy that it makes one dizzy.

"O, my dear," she says, "I promised Mrs. Ogden Armour to spend the entire day at the Navy League," or, "My Mondays are all promised to Mrs. Moore-Arthur for the St. Luke's and Michael Reese base hospital bandage making class, and my Tuesdays are taken by an all day sewing class, and my Wednesdays by my English class and my German class—yes, I'm learning German so I'll know what they're talking about—and my Fridays go mostly between the Friday club and the Symphony concert, and we're leaving for California later and redecorating the country house," etc., etc.

Thus it seems like the millennium to drop into Mrs. John Wellin's drawing room of the Navy League, where fifty or sixty trouvaille women in plain dress of the 1860s-70s sit with Miss Edith Hibbard. Nearly everybody except Miss Hibbard is knitting or sewing, and she is reading. It's a sort of fiction made easy class, where nobody has to do a particle of thinking but the lecturer. One just sits and has the latest novels analyzed and delicately sketched, and choice passages culled and read aloud and then cleverly critized without the slightest wear and tear on one's brain cells. The Hibbards are all noted for their endowment and conversational charm.

This class for predigested fiction is also a time saving class, for one does know on leaving quite what one wants to read and what one doesn't.

Among its members are Mrs. John R. Winterbotham, Mrs. Chester Dawes, Mrs. C. K. Pomery, Mrs. Henry B. Mason, Mrs. Robert Ross, Mrs. Albert B. Dick, Mrs. Wheaton Augur, Mrs. Edward Lawrence, Mrs. William Baum, Mrs. Byron Smith, Mrs. George Meeker, Mrs. Lawrence Meeker, and Mrs. J. B. Gray Jr.

JOHN McDERMOTT, a member of the police department since 1882 and one of the oldest patrolmen on the force in point of service, died at 1211 Belmont avenue yesterday. He had been detailed on the patrol wagon at the Thirtieth street station since 1886. McDermott, who was 63 years of age, was a veteran of the Haymarket riots, the street car strike of 1885 and 1886, and the railroad strike of 1894. He is survived by his widow, Catherine, and four daughters: Mrs. John McCabe of Malta, Ill., Mrs. Elizabeth Cassidy, Mrs. William Wallace, and Miss Rose McDermott.

MRS. HARNET PALMER, widow of Dr. John Palmer, for twenty years a resident of Highland Park, and long a Chicago resident, died on Monday at the Presbyterian hospital. She was born July 23, 1856, in Da Kalb. She is survived by three children—Charles Marvin Palmer of Geneva Lake, Helen, and Floyd Carlton Palmer.

Her picture was published in the Tribune. Nelle is now with the Rev. Dr. J. G. Vaughan. Another brother of Dr. J. G. Vaughan. Another brother is Dr. Herbert Vaughan of Oak Park. Services will be held in the Cuyler Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Oak Park, tomorrow at 2:30 and at Propheticetown, Ill., Friday morning, the Rev. W. B. Doble of Evanston officiating.
